

My pick for an outstanding lineup was the May 26 "Ladies Night" show with another Top 10 alum, Maureen Langan. Her Irish family material includes describing herself as one of six immaculate conceptions, with a father who worked as a garbage man and tried to convince her that all kids got recycled dolls without heads (she called hers "replace-a-face Barbie") and bicycles without seats. Her past experiences on camera as a newscaster are also so sitcom rich and ready that it is only a matter of time before we add TV pilot to her resume. The evening also featured a stand-up and monologist you're going to be hearing a lot about, Angela Forrest, who recently caught the casting eye of Spike Lee. The June 2 lineup was great, too, especially the trifecta with comedian and improv performer extraordinaire Shelagh Ratner; character monologist, singer, and all-around dynamo Susan Campanaro; and Top 10 alum and comedy belle Karith Foster, who The Hollywood Reporter also recently featured in its NYC comedy heavy-hitters list.
